Detailed Rationale & Key Rating Drivers

The revision in ratings of Shaily Engineering Plastics Limited (SEPL) takes into account expansion of its customer base with addition of some of the leading players across diversified industries, addition of new products for its existing clients and strengthening of relationship with its key customer, IKEA. The revision also factors in sales volume driven growth in SEPL's total operating income (TOI) on the back of higher exports during FY17, sustenance of healthy operating margin and strengthening of leverage and debt coverage indicators.

The ratings continue to draw strength from the long and established track record of SEPL in the plastic injection molding business, experienced promoters and reputed clientele across diverse end-use industries. The ratings also draw strength from SEPL's moderate liquidity position and growing demand for plastic with its increased application in various industries.

The ratings, however, continue to be constrained by SEPL's high customer concentration and moderate bargaining power with its large sized customers, susceptibility of its profitability to raw material price volatility and exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations.

SEPL's ability to grow its scale of operations along with diversification of its customer base while retaining its existing clientele, sustain its profitability margins and capital structure shall be the key rating sensitivities.

Detailed description of the key rating drivers

Key Rating Strengths

Expansion of customer base with addition of new customers and products: SEPL has added new customers across various industries like pharmaceutical and FMCG. Further, SEPL has also added new products for its existing customers like IKEA, Gillette and Sanofi.

Sales volume driven growth in TOI with comfortable gearing and debt coverage indicators: During FY17, SEPL reported export-led volume backed growth of 10% in its TOI despite moderation in its sales realization due to decline in crude oil prices. Furthermore, SEPL continued to report healthy PBILDT margin as it operates into niche segment of precision molding and caters to demand from global giants. Leverage and debt coverage indicators also strengthened during FY17 on the back of higher cash accruals coupled with lower finance cost.

Experienced promoters with established track record of operations: SEPL is managed by its Promoter and Executive Chairman, Mr. Mahendra Sanghvi, who has experience of over four decades in the plastic industry. Company has a track record of operations of more than three decades.

Key Rating Weaknesses

High customer concentration with moderate bargaining power: Home furnishing is the largest segment for SEPL with more than 60% of the TOI being contributed by the same. IKEA is the single largest customer for SEPL in the home furnishing segment. Further, SEPL supplies to leading players in diversified industries restricting its bargaining power.

Susceptibility of profitability to raw material price volatility and exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations: The key raw material of SEPL is derivative of crude oil and hence profitability of SEPL is susceptible to any volatility in crude oil prices. Though SEPL has cost pass-through mechanism with most of its customers, price revision happens with some time lag. Also, profit of SEPL is susceptible to fluctuation of foreign exchange to the extent of un-hedged position.
